U. N. Assembly To Debate Atrocities

By Francis W. Carpenter
United Nations, N. Y., (AP)—The U. N. Assembly overrode Russian objections yesterday and called for a thorough discussion of American charges that the Reds tortured and killed thousands of soldiers in "inhuman warfare" in Korea.

The delegates voted 53-5 for the formal debate in the full Assembly, but did not set a date. Only the Soviet bloc voted against the debate. India and Guatemala abstained. The Indian delegate, V. K. Krishna Menon, said he would not take part in the discussion or vote on any resolution put up by any side on atrocities. He said India is concerned in Korea now as chairman of the Neutral Nations Repatriation Commission.

U. S. Chief Delegate Henry Cabot Lodge Jr. urged the Assembly to hear the American case. He later arose and shouted that Russia's Andrei Vishinsky was going too far in a heated speech of opposition.

The Assembly president, Mrs. Vijaya Lakshmi Pandit, twice tried to halt Vishinsky, but he roared on despite her oral spankings.

He charged the Americans with up to the atrocious charges in an attempt to torpedo the Korean peace conference. He said the Americans actually were the culprits because they bombed and killed "innocent women and children" and even some prisoners of war.

36 Hurt In Derailment

Philadelphia, (AP)—Pennsylvania Railroad commuter train, only half-filled because of Armistice Day holiday, jumped the rails yesterday as it moved slowly across a Schuylkill River bridge, injuring 36 passengers.

The first car of the 8-car Chestnut Hill local was cut virtually in half. Its bottom was ripped out and passengers were spilled out on the tracks. Only the bridge walk kept it from tipping into the river.

A second car, also derailed, was dragged forward, churning up stones and ties for 80 feet.

The wreck occurred at 8:29 a.m., during the PRR's heaviest commuting traffic to central Philadelphia. The train had just pulled out of 30th Street Station, and was moving across the bridge toward the tunnel entrance of Suburban Station when derailed.

Service was resumed later.

Foreigners Should View H-Bomb Test, Official Declares

Pittsburgh, (AP)—An Atomic Energy Commission suggested yesterday the United States should consider inviting foreign observers to a hydrogen bomb test.

Commissioner Thomas E. Murray declared that "first-hand experience of mammoth atomic explosions is an essential qualification for future negotiators of the great survival issues."

Murray warned of the mutual destruction which waits on "the road ahead" if nations engage in atomic war.

He suggested also that Russia might see fit to let the world see something of her atomic weapon progress if the United States set the precedent.

Speakers Stress Loyalty To United States On 35th Anniversary Of War I Armistice

A challenge to preserve world peace resounded from podiums yesterday as America's veterans paid homage to war dead on the 35th anniversary of cessation of World War One hostilities.

In Monroe County, as in other corners of the land, speakers all emphasized loyalty to the United States in a period of uneasiness caused by international conflict and uprising in many foreign lands.

At East Stroudsburg Junior High School a youth-packed assembly heard Dr. Joseph Noonan praise America's veterans organizations for their steadfast fight on legislative levels to have the nation in a state of preparedness and their perennial battle against Americans who refuse to take loyalty pledges.

The East Stroudsburg State Teachers College president said Americans have the right to know how their public servants stand on loyalty measures, contending "no man in this free nation of ours is above law."

Dr. Noonan explained he was at a loss to know why any real American would refuse to answer loyalty questions propounded by the legislative bodies who are charged with preserving the principles for which this nation was founded.

In Stroudsburg High School auditorium, J. Joseph McCluskey, attorney, summed up present day chaos by urging the nation's leaders and statesmen he endowed with qualities of straight thinking, calm courage and ability to create a unified effort in attaining three goals: Valor, victory and peace.

These three words, McCluskey said, are represented by sculptured figures on the marble sides of the Unknown Soldier's tomb in Arlington National Cemetery, Virginia.

McCluskey paid tribute to the ideals for which the unknown man gave his life in World War One, and pointed to the subsequent conflicts of World War

Two and the Korean War as examples of how we have failed to maintain world peace. Of the Korean war McCluskey said there is no clear victory. "The Communists today are using the armistice merely to strengthen their armed threat against us."

In Tobyhanna Township School auditorium, Pocono Pines, Maj. William E. Varney, of the Signal Corps Depot, said the significance of the original Armistice Day is lacking, for the nation no longer is marking just the anniversary of World War One "but we are telling the entire world we declared our independence and freedom in 1776 and we intended to keep it that way."

Maj. Varney told students in the Pocono Pines school that withdrawal from world problems today would be sheer disaster since this leader country is striving to preserve world peace.

Other schools of the county held similar exercises in assembly to honor the war dead.

Walter Claims GOP Leaders Primed Velde

Washington (AP)—Rep. Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) charged yesterday that Chairman Velde (R-Ill.) of the House Un-American Activities Committee is "getting his instructions" in the Harry Dexter White case from the Republican National Committee.

Walter told a news conference he had information that Velde was even at that moment at Republican National Headquarters.

At the national committee, Robert Humphreys, director of publicity, told a reporter that Velde was not at the committee offices and was not expected there yesterday.

Walter is senior Democrat on the Un-American Activities Committee. Velde, as chairman, has subpoenaed former President Truman and Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark for hearings on assertions by Atty. Gen. Brownell that President Truman promoted White, a Treasury official, in 1946 after the FBI sent the White House a report that White was a Soviet spy.

Walter said that the same FBI report on White which went to the White House, addressed to President Truman, was delivered to the Pentagon addressed to Eisenhower, who was then Army chief of staff.

Walter said that Truman had "no greater access to information about Harry Dexter White than had the present occupant of the White House."

Walter also said that Brownell's security officer, Thomas Donegan, was the federal attorney who presented the White case to a New York grand jury which did not indict White.

Walter said Democrats on the House committee would make no effort to prevent hearings on the Truman-White case but would insist that "orderly procedure" be followed.

"We certainly have not had orderly procedure so far," he commented.

Walter said the committee should carefully prepare for the inquiry and hold its hearings after Congress reconvenes in January.

He said the first step should be to hear Brownell and examine the FBI files. The traditions of justice, he added, require that a complaint or offense be established first and then the accused be given a hearing.

Earlier in the day, Walter had declared that Velde violated committee rules in subpoenaing Truman.

Orchestra Bus Strikes Truck; 16 Persons Hurt

Carlisle, (AP)—Sixteen members of bandleader Stan Kenton's touring organization were injured yesterday when the bus in which they were traveling smashed into the rear of a tractor-trailer truck on the Pennsylvania Turnpike.

Kenton, who was riding in a second bus following the wrecked vehicle, was not involved in the crash, which occurred at Blue Mountain near here.

Three of the injured persons in the crash were admitted to Carlisle Hospital, but were listed in satisfactory condition.

Scientist Claims First Definite Isolation And Identification Of Human Polio Virus

By Frank Carey
AP Science Reporter
Cambridge, Mass., (AP)—First "definite" isolation and identification of human infantile paralysis virus was announced yesterday by a University of California scientist who said the development "is expected to speed up the fight against polio."

Dr. Wendell Stanley said the development paves the way for chemical analysis of the structure of the germ, and thereby might conceivably lead to improved polio vaccines and possibly even to the ultimate development of a chemical weapon to treat the disease. The research is supported by the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis.

Truman Mum On Appearing At Hearing

New York, (AP)—A visitor reported yesterday that Harry S. Truman remarked in a light vein that he'll answer his historic subpoena from the House Un-American Activities Committee.

"They better be there on time because I will," the former President was quoted by Harry Hershfield, a humorist.

However, Truman kept mum on whether he'll submit to congressional questions about the Harry Dexter White case. So far as records show, the summons for Friday is the first of its kind ever served on an ex-President of the United States.

At one point during a leisurely day, Truman made an apparent reference to his Republican critics as "snollygosters," which he defined as men "born out of wedlock."

Hershfield said he and Truman exchanged banter about the subpoena when he visited the former President's hotel suite, Truman's remark that he'll be there on time was tossed off lightly, Hershfield emphasized.

The humorist said Truman received "over 1,000 telegrams urging him to go down there and fight."

Benson Wins Support Of Many Farmers

Philadelphia, (AP)—Farm Journal magazine said yesterday "a heavy majority of farmers" are still behind Secretary of Agriculture Ezra Taft Benson "despite the cattleman's caravan and other spectacular maneuvers of his opposition."

The magazine said it based its decision, which will be discussed in detail in Farm Journal's December issue out Monday, on:

One—"Opinion" just gathered from 450 typical, good farmers scattered throughout the country, raising a variety of crops, and of various political affiliations."

Two—"Poll of 21 state livestock associations representing many thousands of cattlemen."

Three—"Reports from the magazine's eight field editors."

Loses On Minor Issue

London, (AP)—Prime Minister Churchill's government was defeated by four votes in the House of Commons last night. But it was only a minor issue that would not require it to quit.

The new knowledge is expected to speed up the fight against polio, primarily by providing more definite facts about the virus.

"Now that the virus has been identified definitely, it will be possible to analyze the chemical make-up of the disease agent and to determine many of its properties. Efforts to obtain larger quantities of the virus in pure form are already under way in Berkeley."

"Also, if it is found desirable to use pure polio materials to prepare polio vaccines, the method developed at Berkeley may be useful. Vaccines currently being tested are composed of unpurified material."

Former President May Not Be Called Before Committee

By Douglas B. Cornell
Washington (AP)—The rush of some Republican legislators to grill Harry S. Truman about the Harry Dexter White case slowed down last night after President Eisenhower backed Truman's patriotism and said he personally would not have slapped a subpoena on the ex-President.

There were signs, in fact, that Truman might not be questioned this Friday, as scheduled, if at all.

He had been subpoenaed for Friday in connection with Atty. Gen. Brownell's charges that the former President promoted White in 1946 from assistant Treasury secretary to U. S. director of the International Monetary Fund despite FBI reports that White was a Soviet spy.

The House Un-American Activities Committee had called Truman.

Meantime the Senate internal security subcommittee scheduled a public, televised hearing today at 2:30 p. m. to look into the matter and called Maj. Gen. Harry H. Vaughan as one of its witnesses.

Vaughan, Truman's former military aide, is the man Brownell said received the FBI reports sent to the White House for delivery to the President. Vaughan has said he does not recall any such reports on White.

Eisenhower told a news conference yesterday it was inconceivable that a man in Truman's position knowingly would damage the United States.

The President handed to Brownell the responsibility for bulwarking his charges with essential evidence. He wouldn't be a party, he said, to anything smacking of rank injustice to anyone.

At the same time he said he had found his attorney general interested in decency and justice and in cleaning up what he has got to clean up. Brownell, Eisenhower said, will be left to handle the White case in his own way.

The attorney general got out a statement saying there is no intent to impugn the loyalty of any high official of the Truman administration. But he said a new memo found at the State Department seems to place it beyond question that there was laxity in dealing with Communist infiltration of government.

He said the memo from then Secretary of State Byrnes to President Truman shows White's "espionage activities" came to the attention of the White House and other U. S. agencies in advance of White's promotion. Along with the memo, Brownell said, went a copy of an FBI report the attorney general contends identified White as a spy.

In New York, Truman wasn't saying yes or no as to whether he would obey the summons from the House Un-American Activities Committee to show up Friday for a hearing.

In the midst of all the storm over the White case and a rash of statements from the White House, Justice Department and members of Congress, there were indications any hearings starring Truman might be put off to an indefinite future.

The chairman of the House committee, Rep. Velde (R-Ill.) left the whole thing dangling in air. He said he would call a committee meeting as soon as absent members reach town. But it was uncertain just when that would be.

Three Democrats on his committee said they had been informed there would be no hearings this week, at least, and a Republican member told newsmen they would be justified in concluding there would be none right away.

Something in the nature of "go slow" signs seemed to be appearing, too, at Republican national headquarters, where officials said they didn't much like the way Velde had hustled out subpoenas.

Byrnes, who broke with Truman and now is governor of South Carolina, refused to obey the committee's subpoena for an appearance today.

In a telegram from Columbia, S. C., Byrnes said he could not "admit your right to command a governor to leave his state and remain in the city of Washington until granted leave by your committee to return." He proposed that a subcommittee come to Columbia.

Chairman Velde wired back that the suggestion undoubtedly would be adopted by the committee and a date would be fixed as soon as possible.

It was on Velde's says that the subpoenas for Truman and Byrnes were issued in the first place. A subpoena for Friday was served, too, on Supreme Court Justice Tom C. Clark, who was Truman's attorney general in 1946. That also was something Eisenhower said he personally wouldn't have done.

Mossadeh's Defiance Stirs New Tension

Tehran, Iran (AP)—Tension mounted in Iran yesterday as Mohammed Mossadeh wound up his attack on a five-man military court's right to judge him.

In Tehran, police locked up 20 high school girls for shouting "Mossadeh is victorious," and the city's military governor, Gen. Farhad Dadsetan, threatened tough measures to curb any disorders.

Troops and police were doubled throughout the capital to meet the threat of a general strike today. The walkout has been ballyhooed for the last week by Communists and pro-Mossadeh men.

Mossadeh declared earlier yesterday at his hearing that an army court has no right to try him because, as premier he decreed the dissolution of army courts to "improve Iran's judicial law."

GOP Halts Series Of Reverses

Los Angeles, (AP)—The series of Democratic victories in odd-year congressional elections has been stopped by a fighting Californian who asked for support of Eisenhower policies.

Glenard P. Lipscomb, 38, a public accountant and state legislator, Tuesday won the nation's final congressional district election of 1953.

The handsome and personable saying yes or no as to whether he would obey the summons from the House Un-American Activities Committee to show up Friday for a hearing.

"The people are desirous of continuing the administration's accomplishments of the past 10 months," he said the vote for him was a vote of confidence in the Eisenhower administration and an endorsement of the record of the 83rd Congress.

Lipscomb broke a string of seven Democratic victories in Congressional district elections since last November's regular elections, including the recent upsets in Wisconsin and New Jersey.

He prevented the Democrats from making a further cut in the slim Republican majority in the House of Representatives. With the Lipscomb victory the GOP now holds 219 House seats and the Democrats 215. The remaining seat is held by an Independent.

In the congressional district in Los Angeles County Lipscomb got more votes than the total of his three opponents. Complete semi-official returns from the 221 precincts gave Lipscomb 42,880 votes. His principal opponent was George L. Arnold, a Democrat, who had the strong backing of Democratic organizations and several labor groups. Arnold's vote totaled 34,545.

Sole Rights To Tax Gas Asked

Pittsburgh, (AP) — Gov. John S. Fine Tuesday urged the national convention of the American Association of State Highway Officials to give "emphatic endorsement" to plans to give states exclusive rights to tax gasoline.

"Millions of dollars which are now collected by the federal government for gasoline used in cars traveling state highways have been siphoned out to Washington without any commensurate return in federal aid for state highway construction," Fine said.

Fine told the meeting that federal aid in Pennsylvania amounted to less than 18 per cent of total construction and reconstruction costs.

Hamilton Twp. School Begins Lunch Project

Hamilton The hot lunch program at the Hamilton Consolidated School began Monday with township school directors present. Mrs. Hilda Haney and Mrs. Catherine Van Why, cooks, served the first meal. The menu for the day listed barbecue on buns, peas, pears and milk.

Plans have been made to serve a balanced meal each day for 20 cents with children paying for meals each Monday.

After Thanksgiving Day, parents will receive menus planned two weeks in advance.

Parents who cannot afford to buy lunches for their children are asked to contact Mrs. Corona Keiser, RD2, Stroudsburg, or telephone Saylorsburg 7R18.

On the first day almost all of the 269 pupils enrolled purchased the hot meal.

Jet Engine Plant May Be Moved

Philadelphia (AP) — The Westinghouse Electric Corp. has told union representatives at its suburban Lester plant that the firm wants to move its jet engine operations in Lester to Kansas City, Mo., it was disclosed yesterday.

Such a move would affect the jobs of some 2,000 of the plant's 10,000 workers. A company spokesman said there is "nothing definite" about the move but that it has discussed the possibility with officials of the plant's Local 107, United Electrical Workers (Ind.).

State May Regain No. 2 Spot In National Population Derby

Harrisburg, (AP) — A new estimate of Pennsylvania's population served notice yesterday that the Keystone State may yet regain its place as the second most populous state in the Union.

The State Planning Board estimated that as of April 1, 1952, Pennsylvania had 10,705,663, an increase of 2 per cent, or 207,651 residents, over 1950's federal census.

The next nationwide census will not be taken until 1960. Unless California is continuing to grow at a rapid rate, it will be surpassed once again by Pennsylvania.

California's population in 1950 was 10,586,223, or 88,211 more than Pennsylvania. The Golden State rose from fifth place in the nation to second between 1940 and that year.

But Pennsylvania's rate of growth apparently is on the increase. The estimate for 1952, which has lost many natives. Not showed a 2 per cent increase over 1950 — a higher rate than the country has achieved in the past.

has exceeded in-migration.

"Ever since colonial times, we've exported population," Pitkin said. "Like other eastern states we've helped populate the West."

Assuring continued residence in Pennsylvania of a growing population is the expansion of industry in recent years and the prospect of even further expansion, Pitkin said.

Although Pennsylvania never has headed the nation in population its numbers always have carried weight. In colonial times, Virginia had the edge on William Penn's colony. New York topped the list in early republic days with Pennsylvania second right up to 1950.

The Keystone State's largest city, Philadelphia, still maintains its third place spot among the nation's cities despite a growing threat from California's Los Angeles. In colonial days, the Quaker city was the second city of the British Empire.

The planning board, in making its population estimate, used the criteria of births compared to deaths and the annual school census to determine the extent of migration by registration of school children.

Doebling Predicts Biggest Bear Season In Monroe History

Kill Should Be Large, Survey Shows

Next Monday is the first day of what should be the biggest bear season in county history.

That is the opinion of old-timers in the area questioned by Game Protector John Doebling.

Not within memory have there been signs of as big a bear population as now, Doebling learned. "I look for the biggest bear kill we've ever had," said the game protector.

The bears will be found all over the county, not just in the heavily-wooded sections, he added. "There are signs of bear within a mile of Stroudsburg. I hope those are the ones that are killed first," said Doebling.

There have already been authenticated cases of a black bear or bears ambuling into Stroudsburg and hunting food around homes at Phillips, N. Eighth and N. Fifth Sts.

Doebling said bears in the area are becoming more bold, as they are in other parts of the State. Monday, in the second case so far, another pig was crippled near Jonas at the Lawrence Getz farm.

Doebling said tracks in the snow showed two bears climbed over the electric fencing to get at the pigs. The game protector has seen tracks of five bears around Jonas where there are usually only two, he said.

The week-long bear season starts at 7 a.m. Shooting ends at 5 p.m. daily. The season ends Nov. 21. Though Pennsylvania is one of the leading black bear states in America, the bag was only 261 last year—because of poor weather conditions and lack of snow for tracking.

If conditions are right, and there should be a light snow, making for better visibility, the State-wide kill could reach 500, says the State Game Commission.

A person hunting as an individual may take one bear during the season. The bear must be at least a year old.

A hunting party of three or more may take two bears. Five or more persons hunting together must maintain a big game roster in accordance with game laws.

The game commission recommends that hunters wear fluorescent or other conspicuous clothing while hunting bear—as a safety measure. It makes them less likely to become the target of some trigger-happy hunter. Bears have poor eyesight, the commission pointed out, and wearing of bright clothing will not hamper the hunter's attempt to get close to his quarry.

The season closed Tuesday on woodcock and dove. Still O.K. for hunting are pheasant, turkey, grouse, rabbit and squirrel. Season will be open all year on groundhogs and raccoons. Trappers are also going after mink at present.

Four SPCA Workers At Conference

Monroe County will be represented at the 1953 conference of Federated Humane Societies of Pennsylvania in Allentown today and Friday.

Attending from the local SPCA chapter will be Mrs. Ellen Albenzi, president, shelter custodian and SPCA agent George Wakefield, Mrs. Frank Kerr and Mrs. Edward Knob.

Plans for the trip were made at the regular meeting this week. Members there heard a report from Wakefield that a cat and 15 dogs had been placed with families during October. Sixty-nine animals were destroyed.

There will be an executive board meeting Nov. 17.

In The Public's Interest...

The public uniformly welcomed the positive action taken by directors of Monroe County YMCA to bring an end to the six weeks work stoppage on the new $520,000 building program.

Interest of the public centers in providing adequate health, recreation and character building headquarters for more than 200 boys and girls in Monroe County. They contributed funds or pledged them for that purpose and they are—to put it mildly—a bit anxious to see that there be no more delay.

Y directors have invited four contractors, representatives of labor unions and other interested persons to a meeting at 1:30 p.m. today.

Aim of this assembly is to bring an end to the work stoppage which deprives young people of the county of an efficient, well-planned program of activities in a modern, well-equipped center.

Contractors, labor representatives, Y directors and other interested persons might well go into tomorrow's meeting with that aim firmly in mind. It must be kept in mind during every moment of the conference.

If it is, we are confident, basis for a settlement of the issues will be written.

It would also be well for all persons attending this conference to keep in mind that the public is impatient about the delay in a project which they supported with their hard-earned cash to provide for their youth and the youth of their neighbors.

He Can Do It

In the current issue of the "International Teamster," monthly magazine of the AFL Brotherhood of Teamsters, Dave Beck, the union president, calls for a clean-out of racketeers in the union movement.

He says it is the duty of top officials of the unions, and the leaders of the AFL, to root racketeers out of locals.

On this issue, the Teamsters themselves have not had a pretty record and up until recently, when they moved to clean up the Longshoremen's Union on the New York docks, the AFL leadership had been anything but militant about rackets among their affiliates.

If this is to be a new policy, it is one which the public uniformly will welcome, and one which will do a great deal to bolster public confidence in unions.

Mr. Beck not only is top kick in the giant Teamsters Union, but he is a vice president of the AFL. He, as much as any one man, can push this announced policy to fulfillment.

Make It A Clean Sweep

Community Chest workers all over the county are moving out every day to clean up the 1953 campaign. They must report by Monday in an effort to wipe out the final 23 per cent of the quota required to support agencies serving you and your neighbors.

That leaves it up to every citizen to be ready to give or pledge when a worker calls. If you are not at home, it is your responsibility to make arrangements to get your gift or pledge to a worker before Monday.

The Once Over

THE REAL NEWS NEWSREEL

T. N. is going to stop reserving seats for spectators by phone.

It thinks that anybody who wants to sleep that much should be willing to wait in line with the rest of us. The Moscow radio having asked for request numbers on its musical programs, we hear Earl Browder has called up and asked for "I Don't See Me In Your Eyes Any More."

General Harry Vaughan says he has no recollection of ever getting the report the FBI says it handed to him that Harry Dexter White was a Russian spy.

Maybe he was awfully busy with deep-freezer discussions that day.

President Truman also says that he has no recollection of it.

(We hope Harry isn't implying that whenever he got a note from the FBI he thought it was just a request for a piano number and couldn't bother.)

American Cigarette Company, 95 per cent owned by American Tobacco, is to be absorbed by the latter which will give eight shares of A. T. for each one of A. C. . . . This is presumably the king-sized exchange.

Mayor-Elect Wagner and Mrs. Wagner are vacationing in Nassau, Bahamas.

Due to his Tiger background, maybe Bob just misinterpreted "Three Cheers for Old Nassau."

Penelope the Platypus, widely heralded as about to have a blessed event, disappointed the New York Zoo experts.

"Well," said the official Democrat when he heard the news, "that's Eisenhower for you."

The New York Subways are to get 290 new cars.

We know a fellow who squawks he hasn't been able to get into one of the old ones yet.

The new subway cars will be very modern.

Padded floors, resilient ropes and water-buckets the same as required by the fight rules everywhere else.

"What's that stuff?" asked Art Carney. "Caviar," replied Jack's Gleason. "Throw it away; it's getting black," said Carney.

Pretty funny line, too, was his retort to the big businessman who asked him "How did you ever come to get a job in the sewer?"

"Just lucky, I guess."

"Sales Up 25 per cent; Profits Down 15 per cent"—headline.

Remember away back when you could be sure a thing like that was a typographical error instead of a reflection of the new economy's system?

"Kind Sir," which, despite bad notices from the critics, is sold out through May, is one of the costliest comedies in theater history and could well bear the program note, "Production by Aga Khan."

Story is feeble, but with Charles Boyer and Mary Martin starred, what do you want with your champagne?

It is a little like putting John Barrymore and Maude Adams in "The Ladder."

There should be one scene in which Mary introduces "I'm in Love With a Wonderful Guy," and Charles gives with "Nothing Like a Dame."

Boyer is a U. S. State Department diplomat in the show but he plays opposite Miss Martin as if he suspected she might turn out to be Joe McCarthy.

Pee Wee Reese says he doesn't want to be named manager of the Dodgers.

He's sure there must be easier ways to find total ingratitude.

Vito Marcantonio has quit the American Labor Party, there being a red flag on the play.

We didn't know until we had read Joe Laurie, Jr.'s, absorbing book "Vaudeville" that Cary Grant was once a stilt-walker and that Victor McLaglen, Conrad Nagel, Burt Lancaster, Bobby Clark and Joe E. Brown were members of acrobatic troupes.

Lancaster was billed as Cravat and Lancaster and Brown was with the Prevost & Brown Act.

Laurie also reveals that George Burns began as a hooper with Joseph Brown, that Waitie Hoy's piano player when he went to vaudeville from baseball in the 20's was Hildegard and that Jack Benny was in vaudeville as Salisbury & Benny and later as Benny & Woods, doing just a violin act.

He never tried a monologue until the latter team split.

He also says that Al Jolson first went on the stage as Jolson, Palmer & Jolson and that the act was a flop until J. Francis Dooley of Dooley & Sales, got him to "black up."

Nor did we know that Kate Smith, 57,000 a week in 1921, was getting $7,000 a week in picture houses.

Let's see how old does that make her?

There's the old George S. Kaufman touch in "The Solid Gold Cadillac" and on the dough he will make from this one he can afford platinum-steering.

Ray Bolger, if you ask us, loses some of his personality warmth on TV and to us the scripts are not funny.

Commissions on stock purchases are up 18 per cent and it is getting so a customer can lose a couple of points before he even buys the stock.

We thought of taking a plunge the other day as we felt bullish on a certain stock but bearish on the bill from the brokerage house.

Weather forecasts are getting to be quite a TV feature and we assume that in time we can get complete information in COLOR.

Robert S. Allen Reports

Ike To Announce Accord With Canada Against Reds

Washington—President Eisenhower will make an historic announcement in his address before the Canadian Parliament.

He will disclose that the U. S. and Canada have worked out a far-reaching understanding on joint military and economic measures against the menace of Red aggression.

This latest accord between the traditional neighbors is unprecedented in scope and significance.

In effect, it amounts to setting up a North American NATO.

Far beyond anything they ever attempted before in the more than a century and a half of their amicable relations, the two nations will integrate their resources and efforts in a continental defense against a common enemy.

Graphically illustrative of the extraordinary nature of this alliance are the following highlights of the economic agreement:

"In order to achieve an optimum production of goods essential for the common defense, the two countries shall develop a coordinated program of requirements, production and procurement. To this end, the two countries shall as it becomes necessary, institute coordinated controls over the distribution of scarce raw materials and supplies.

"In order to facilitate essential production, the technical knowledge and productive skills involved in such production within both countries shall, where feasible, be freely exchanged.

"Barriers which impede the flow between Canada and the U. S. of goods essential for the common defense shall be removed as far as possible.

"The two governments, through their appropriate agencies, will consult concerning any financial or foreign exchange problems which may arise as a result of the implementation of this agreement.

The unique part is largely the work of the Joint Industrial Mobilization Committee, which held a number of private sessions last month.

The group includes Treasury Secretary George Humphrey, Commerce Secretary S. M. Elmer, Deputy Defense Secretary Roger Kyes, Mobilization Director Arthur S. Fleming, and C. D. Howe, Canadian Minister of Defense Production, and R. M. Brophy, Deputy Minister of Production.

Hanging Fire—Regardless of the outcome of the furor over that FBI report on the late Harry Dexter White, Major General Harry Vaughan has a piece of unfinished personal business hanging fire in the Senate.

It's the renewal of his Reserve commission as a two-star general.

President Eisenhower recommended that last March, Vaughan's name was on a list with nine other Reserve generals. Prominent among them were Major General William Donovan, who commanded the OSS in World War II, won the Medal of Honor in World War I, and is now Ambassador to Thailand and Major General Patrick Hurley, who was Secretary of War in the Hoover cabinet, Ambassador to China in the Roosevelt regime, and is claiming he was elected to the Senate in last year's election in New Mexico.

The President did not propose new ranks for these Reserve generals; They have been Major Generals for a varying number of years. The President acted under the provisions of the new Reserve Officers Act which abolishes five-year commissions and puts them on an indefinite basis.

But they have to be confirmed by the Senate. The Senate Armed Services Committee, headed by Senator Leverett Saltonstall (R, Mass.), approved the commissions of Vaughan and the others, the day after they were received from the President.

But the Senate has still to act on this unanimous Committee report.

When the group came up for confirmation, Senator Francis Case (R, S. D.) objected to Vaughan's appointment. This challenge blocked consideration of the others on the list with the result that they are still hanging fire.

If they are not confirmed before this Congress adjourns, they will automatically expire and General Vaughan, and the others, will become ex-Generals.

Flashes—The International Longshoremen and Warehouse Union, headed by leftist Harry Bridges, may return to the AFL fold. The move to bring that about is headed by Dave Beck, boss of the powerful Teamsters and an AFL vice-president. A five-member committee has been set up to see what can be done on the matter. It's headed by Frank Brewster, Teamster leader on the West Coast.

The Post-Office Department's latest revised edition of "Postage Stamps of the United States," covering all stamps issued from 1847 to July 1, 1953, will be published next week. It can be purchased for 65 cents per copy from the Superintendent of Documents, Government Printing Office, Washington, D. C.

George Sokolsky Says...

Dole For American Producers Hurt By Varied Commodity Imports Is Proposed

Los Angeles—Some of the oil-producing states, such as Texas and New Mexico, have tied their educational budget to the production of oil.

The states generally receive a one-eighth royalty. If oil is plentifully produced, the schools are plentifully provisioned.

The present general reduction in oil production (allowables, as it is called) is imperiling school budgets in those states.

The petroleum industry of Texas, for instance, provides 37.8 per cent of the available school fund; 54.4 per cent of the foundation school fund; and 58.5 per cent of the teacher's retirement fund.

Obviously, a sharp reduction of oil production can cripple these funds. The present cut-out of allowances is attributed to the import of foreign oil in an over-extended world market, which became over-extended during the war years and has never adjusted to peacetime needs.

In California, there is a shortage of oil production, but there is no pipeline between California and West Texas and the adjacent oil producing areas. So Texas oil is shipped from Houston, through the Panama Canal, up to Los Angeles by tanker, a distance of 8,812 miles, which makes that oil too expensive for California. A pipeline would reduce the distance to 550 miles and is a less expensive way to move this product.

Some of those who are to enthusiastically supporting the idea for business that might become distressed because of easy imports into this country, fought bitterly against doling out other segments of the population in distress. Although more consistency is not a virtue, the record ought to be stated.

The anti-social character of their argument should be obvious, but it is not to the internationalists who are more concerned about Jordan, Iraq, Saudi Arabia and Borneo than they are about Texas, New Mexico, Oklahoma and Louisiana. It is a theory of self-flagellation in the economic field and produces a self-righteous glow among those enormously important businessmen whose investments are universal and whose interests know no nationality.

Also, we have learned in two wars what the submarine can do and now we need to add the atom bombs and atom guns to the submarine. Therefore it must be assumed that in time of war, our safest course is to be as self-sufficient as possible. Certainly we need not import oil. It might be argued that if production is reduced in the United States and is increased abroad, the amount of oil available to the United States will be greater. But how are we going to bring oil to the United States in tankers across the Pacific Ocean, to say nothing of the Atlantic? What will the enemy's schnorkel submarines be doing to our tankers?

Internationalism can do great mischief when we move away from grandiose phrases and get down to hardpan.

Toll Charges Announced For Three New Interstate Bridges

Autos, Light Trucks To Pay 25 Cents Trip

Toll charges for crossing the new bridges at Portland, Delaware Water Gap and Milford have been fixed by the Delaware River Joint Toll Bridge Commission.

Alexander R. Miller, chairman, announced that rates, adopted in accordance with recommendations of traffic engineers, will be 25 cents for passenger cars and light trucks each trip; 50 cents for medium-size trucks and buses and $1 a trip for heavy trucks in excess of seven and a half tons gross capacity.

The toll schedule provides for sale of commutation tickets limited to a fixed time and available for use by passenger cars only, the chairman said. These tickets will be available for sale at the maintenance and operations buildings in Milford and Portland.

Truck tickets will be available at each of the three locations. They will be good for passage across the Portland - Columbia, Delaware Water Gap, Milford-Montague and Easton-Phillipsburg bridges.

Miller also disclosed the Milford bridge will open at noon on Dec. 30. The announcement completes the fixing of dates for opening the three structures which cost $15,000,000.

Portland bridge will be the first to open—on Tuesday, Dec. 1 at noon. Delaware Water Gap, largest of the three spans, will open at 3 p. m. Wednesday, Dec. 16 and elaborate ceremonies are contemplated with the governors of both New Jersey and Pennsylvania scheduled to participate. A dinner at the Penn-Stroud Hotel at 6 that night will culminate the day's festivities.

The Milford bridge, built at a cost of approximately $2,000,000 will link U. S. Highway 209 in Pennsylvania and 206 in New Jersey. The bridge has a roadway 24 feet wide and replaces a structure only 13 feet, 11 inches wide.

The present bridge, purchased by the Commission for $31,500 in 1922 after being built in 1889, will be closed to all traffic the day the new bridge opens and will be demolished later.

First contract for construction was awarded Sept. 24, 1951. The bridge, 531 feet long, will have two traffic lanes and a sidewalk for pedestrians.

Girls Advised To Take Courses In Engineering

Columbus, Ohio (AP)—Mobilization Director Arthur S. Flemming yesterday urged girls to enroll in engineering school and asked the schools to recruit feminine students.

A bigger supply of women trained in science and engineering, Flemming said, not only would relieve yesterday's manpower shortage in the next war emergency.

"In many instances, women graduates of engineering schools would work a while and then marry and raise their own families," Flemming told the Association of Land-Grant Colleges and Universities at its meeting here.

Memorial Committee Holds Rites In East Stroudsburg

Impressive exercises commemorating Armistice Day were observed in East Stroudsburg Junior High School auditorium yesterday morning where veterans gathered in tribute to their fallen comrades.

Highlighted by the message of Dr. Joseph Noonan, president of East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, the exercise was the main program sponsored by the Monroe County Joint Memorial Committee, which alternates services in the Stroudsburgs each year.

Veterans' organization officers, firing squad and color guards turned out at 8:30 a. m. to begin their morning schedule, lining up at the Doughboy monument, Court House Square, Stroudsburg, to place a wreath and conduct rites.

Headed by John Darr, VFW commander; Foster Gould, American Legion commander; Stanley Siptroth, commander of the 28th Division Post here and Donald Dimmick, of the Marine Corps League, uniformed veterans fired salutes, heard prayer pronounced by Chaplain Howard Mount and sounding of taps.

New Driver In Accident; Wife Injured

Marshall's Creek—A crash resulted yesterday when a beginning driver stepped on the gas pedal instead of the brake.

Injured in the resulting wreck was Mrs. Ettore R. Chiappa, 106 Analomink St., East Stroudsburg, wife of the driver. She was hospitalized in East Stroudsburg with scalp bruises and brain concussion, according to Stroudsburg State police.

Police said Chiappa had a learner's permit and was driving on Route 402 from Minisink Hills. At the Route 209 intersection, police said, he started to turn left, but saw another vehicle approaching. Chiappa attempted to brake the car but his foot hit the gas pedal instead. The car shot across Route 209 and crashed into an old parked truck on the other side of the highway.

The truck was owned by Smithfield Township, police said, and it was planned to restore and repair the truck, and possibly put it to use as a snow-plow. Damages were estimated at $200 to the truck and $1,000 to the car.

Post Auxiliary; Gould, Legion commander; Darr, VFW commander; Smith, Post 56, Society of 28th Division commander.

Baled Paper-Cardboard Falls From Truck, Crushes Chest Of Man Walking Along Road

Saylorsburg—A man's chest was crushed by a bale of paper and cardboard which police said fell from a passing truck in a freak accident near here last night.

In critical condition at East Stroudsburg General Hospital is Harold Kresge, 28, this village, who was walking south along Route 115 about 6:20 p. m., when the accident occurred.

A Pittston motorist, Andrew Horenza, passed the spot with his wife a few minutes later and spotted the bale of paper and the injured man.

He stopped, police said, and called for the help of some men standing some distance down the road. After looking over the injured Kresge, a telephone call was put in for police, a doctor and an ambulance.

Kresge was moved to the General Hospital by ambulance. State police of the Brodheadville station began investigation immediately. Police followed up a hunch that the bale of scrap paper fell from a truck headed for the Empire Box Co. at Minisink Hills.

At the box company workmen were unloading a tractor-trailer load of scrap paper. A check showed the load was one bale short, police said. The driver was listed as Edward Jones, 30, of Taylor.

Police said they are continuing their investigation of the accident.

Constitution Armistice GOP Theme

Violation of the provisions of the Constitution of the United States for self interest is a betrayal of the United States as a country vested in the people rather than in government, Arlington W. Williams yesterday warned the members of the Monroe Council of Republican Women at their meeting at the Penn-Stroud.

In an Armistice Day speech on the Constitution, Mr. Williams explained its meaning and structure, and provisions for protection of democracy. He warned against the danger of ignorance of its true meaning and indifference to its protective content.

Jefferson, he said, provided for government by free election, decided by a majority vote which makes the government the servant of the people, and which insures that no one individual can rule, no one person have unlimited powers as the Constitution provides for a balance of power. The legislature may enact laws, but the judicial authority must decide whether that legislation can be put into effect.

"Since 1787, the Constitution has stood the test of time and experience and under it this nation has grown from poverty to the richest country in the world, with its individual freedoms preserved by the Constitution," he said, and challenged those who criticize it to ask themselves where in the world there was better government.

Mrs. Irving B. Kiffin, new president of the council, presided at the meeting. The auditor's report was given by Mrs. Clyde Pyle.

Welcomed as new members were Mrs. Sanford Strunk, Mrs. Herbert Stoner and Mrs. Otto Paulson.

Mrs. Clara Uriacher, newly-elected tax collector of Middle Smithfield, was congratulated for her victory at the polls.

Mrs. Alex Koornboff, social relations chairman, greeted the guests. Mrs. W. Adolph Baker, who with Mrs. Earl Primrose, is co-chairman of welfare, asked the members to bring to the Christmas meeting, the gifts which they wish to present to residents at the County Home.

Mrs. Elly Travis, chairman of finances, took the names of volunteers to assist in the New Idea Fashion Show in December. Mrs. J. Russell Custard announced plans for the third annual Teen-Age Essay contest.

Refreshments were served after the meeting, with Mrs. Mary Kistler and Mrs. Eleanor Randolph as co-chairmen of the hostess committee which included Mrs. Herbert Kistler, Mrs. Howard Koster, Mrs. Harold Lanterman. The centerpiece was of Fall vegetables and fruit with ivy on a lace tablecloth.

Other board members present included Mrs. Howard Eckert, Miss Mary Kistler, Mrs. T. E. Torrell, Mrs. Oscar Sharp, Mrs. George W. Crane and Mrs. Harry Warrick.

A short business meeting was held, at which time it was voted to install a sink in the first grade room.

Speaker was Mrs. E. S. Rosenberry, whose topic was "Children—Our Greatest Asset and Greatest Challenge."

The attendance banner was awarded to the 4th grade, Mrs. Earl Rader's room.

Hostesses were the 3rd grade mothers.

It's very confusing with Armistice Day. Thanksgiving and Christmas all sort of running together in the club news these days. It used to be that each holiday had its own little compartment.

One group is taking up a collection for Christmas baskets for the needy, another holding a Thanksgiving program, a third mixing in plans for their Christmas welfare project with an Armistice Day speech.

Reminds me of a modernistic painting where all the colors run together, sort of. I can remember the time when the calendar was as neat as a child's coloring book, with big black lines to keep one event from running over into another.

Now, it's more of a finger painting, with great splashes and streaks of color going every which way. And sneaking in, every once in a while, is a note about "secret pal gifts will be exchanged at the January meeting," which brings in the new year with all its complexities.

Well, you're the ones who have to keep your activities straight—all I have to do is see how you manage it.

Functions Of Two-County Child Guidance Center's Workers Explained Here

The annual report meeting of the Child Guidance Center of Northampton and Monroe Counties to local directors and citizens was held last night in First Stroudsburg Presbyterian Church.

An explanation of the individual functions of the center's three officials was given.

Dr. Robert Mellon, director and psychiatrist, was introduced by Mrs. L. T. Stahleford, president of the board. Dr. Mellon gave brief remarks on the overall purpose of the center, then introduced Dr. Charles Morris, center psychologist.

A tape recording of a well-disguised "case history" was played in an effort to show the manner in which an actual behavior problem is worked out.

Mellon, Morris and Mrs. Sadie Josephson, social worker at the center, answered questions from the audience following the recording.

Directors of the center are Mrs. Stahleford; Mrs. W. W. Watt, vice president; Herbert Fishbone, treasurer and Mrs. Kathleen Butz, secretary.

Members of the board are Mrs. Robert Birkel, Ralph Burrows, Dr. Charlotte Jordan, M. C. Cassebaum, John S. Cole, Roger Dunning, David Feinberg, Rev. Her-

Christmas Club Depositors To Get Record Sum

New York (AP)—Christmas club depositors in the nation's 528 mutual savings banks shortly will receive a record total of $195,359,772 in cash for gift shopping.

The National Assn. of Mutual Savings Banks says that represents the accumulation of 2,128,194 depositors and the total is $7,735,268 more than was saved in 1952. The average distribution is $91.80 per account, compared with $86.11 last year.

Wilson Notes New Atomic Finds Loom

Washington, (AP)—Secretary of Defense Wilson said yesterday science is "on the threshold of many more discoveries in the atomic age."

This designation of the age, Wilson said, "goes far beyond the smashing of atoms and the atomic bomb. Perhaps even more important is the great work that is being done in chemistry in the rearrangement of atoms and molecules."

The secretary made these statements in a speech before the Association of Military Surgeons.

He said the military Medical Corps is now being reduced by 1,600 with the object of calling the fewest possible number of doctors and dentists from civilian life. He placed the present medical officer strength of the services at 19,500 and the number of permanent type hospitals around the world at 240, with a total bed capacity of 80,000.

Life of Riley

By JIM RILEY
Sports Editor

Last weekend, despite the storm, was the best one this column has experienced this season, as the outcome of 42 football games met with our approval, while 12 were on the wrong side of the ledger. The season total at this writing is 346 correct and 121 wrong predictions for a percentage of 741. Although some of our games were cancelled because of the storm, the wind wasn't all bad. Two of the 12 misses were brought about by the scores. Well, time doesn't stand still and there's a rough weekend ahead.

The game everyone is looking forward to this week is the clash between Stroudsburg and Northampton, with the Lehigh Valley League football championship at stake. Very little has to be said about this contest, as the entire campaign rests on its outcome. Nobody has to remind the Mountaineers that this is the one for which they have been pointing all season. Good news from the hospital list yesterday, plus the fine spirit shown by Stroudsburg all season gives this writer only one alternative—Stroudsburg in a real thriller.

East Stroudsburg also faces an important game on Saturday. Nazareth will enter the contest as heavy favorite, but the Cavaliers have been "up" for every big game this season and this one should be no exception. Armed with two weeks rest, the news that they are almost at full strength and with the knowledge that a victory over Nazareth is a stepping stone to second place in the final standings, I'll pick the Cavaliers to pull that upset they so narrowly missed against Wilson Borough. Bangor can name the final score against Hellertown. The Slaters will see all their players in action with an easy victory. East Stroudsburg State Teachers College has completed its season.

On the national scene I'm forced to string along with Penn over Army, but this contest is really ripe upset material. Boston College rates a slight edge over Detroit, while Villanova is favored over Boston University and Brown will down Harvard. Gettysburg is too much for Bucknell, Syracuse will roll over Colgate, Navy will trounce Columbia and Dartmouth will just nip Cornell. Fordham will be too much for Temple, Lafayette will nip Delaware, Penn State can name the final score against Rutgers and Pittsburgh will trounce North Carolina State.

Yale will shade Princeton in a good contest, while Cincinnati upends VMI. Drake dominates Iowa Teachers and Illinois games Wisconsin in the best game of the week. Northwestern will dump Indiana, Minnesota is too strong for Iowa and Oklahoma will have an easy time with Iowa State. Oklahoma A&M is the winner over Kansas, Kansas State will trip Missouri, Marquette will just pass Holy Cross and Michigan State will club Michigan. Nebraska rates a slight edge over Colorado. Notre Dame will murder North Carolina and Ohio State will give Purdue the same treatment. Texas Tech is favored over Tulsa and Wichita will win over South Dakota State.

In the south it looks like Georgia Tech over Alabama, Georgia to down Auburn in a real good ball game and Chattanooga over Xavier. Clemson will edge The Citadel, George Washington will crush Davidson, Tennessee is just a little too strong for Florida and Furman will edge Florida State. Kentucky will run wild against Memphis State, Mississippi State should edge Louisiana State and Maryland will gain revenge for last season's loss at the hands of Mississippi. William and Mary will down Richmond, West Virginia will have no trouble with South Carolina, Tulane will decision Vanderbilt and Washington and Lee will edge Virginia.

Miami, of Florida, will win over VMI, while Southern Methodist rolls over Arkansas and Baylor blasts Houston. Rice will take Texas A and M into camp, Texas will down Texas Christian and Arizona will prove too much for Texas Western. Brigham Young will nip Tempe State, Colorado A and M will edge Utah, while Denver dumps Utah State and Wyoming edges New Mexico. On the Pacific Coast it will be California over Oregon, College of the Pacific will down Idaho, Washington State will edge Oregon State and Stanford will trample San Jose State.

UCLA will keep its championship hopes alive with a favorable nod over Washington in the final big game in the far east. The current grid campaign is virtually at an end, but the big boys are still hanging away at several conference titles and an invitation to one of the major bowls on New Year's Day. The independents are also out each Saturday playing their best in the hopes that they too may receive a post-season bid.

While the remainder of the nation divides its football interest, the entire Lehigh Valley will have eyes and ears pointed in the direction of Northampton, where the Lehigh Valley League prize will be up for grabs.

Carter Slam Savoie In Fifth Round

By Jack Hand

Montreal (AP) — Sturdy Jimmy Carter wrecked another "home town boy" challenger for his lightweight title last night when he knocked out Montreal's Armand Savoie in 50 seconds of the fifth round with one whistling right to the jaw.

Dropped flat on his back from the force of Carter's payoff wallop, the 23-year-old Savoie gamely tried to beat the count. He was able to scramble to his hands and knees as Referee Tom Sullivan counted nine and 10.

Both fighters were cut around the left eye in the fourth round when Carter started to press his attack after letting Savoie take the lead in the early rounds. He was able to scramble to his hands and knees as Referee Tom Sullivan counted nine and 10.

Bombing to the body with both hands, the 23-year-old champ from New York set up the knockout. As Carter lunged to the attack with the crushing right hand, Savoie's shiny title dream was ended.

It was the third successful defense this year for Carter, a three to one favorite, who also stopped Tommy Collins and George Araujo earlier.

Same Judges

The same three judges who gave Savoie a non-title split decision over the champ last February officiated last night. They weren't needed. Carter carried his own judges in his right fist.

A crowd estimated at 10,000 turned out at the Montreal Forum for the city's first championship bout since 1931.

Promoter Raoul Godbout later announced a paid crowd of 9,336, a gross gate of $53,719 and a net of $46,855. It was $895 short of the Montreal indoor record.

There was no radio or television of the scrap for which Carter got a $25,000 guarantee and Savoie 12 and on-half per cent of the house. Carter weighed 133½, the lightest since he originally won the title from Ike Williams in 1951. Savoie scaled 134 pounds.

The angular French Canadian carried the fight to the champ in the early rounds. Jiggling up and down at long range, he would pepper Carter and then grab to escape body punishment.

After a slow first round, Savoie drew cheers from the crowd with a rally in the second. Again in the third the challenger, still head hunting, kept pressing. Just before the end of the third, a left-right-left combination stung the champ.

Maybe Manager Willie Kitchum told Carter he had to start to punch for he came out swinging in the fourth. Blood leaked from a newly opened cut at the side of Savoie's left eye and from a slice over Carter's left eye.

This was the eighth title bout for Carter who won the championship, lost it to Lauro Salas and won it back from Salas last year. It was his 26th knockout and 64th victory in 87 starts. He has lost 16 and fought seven draws.

Savoie was stopped for the third time in 62 pro bouts.

Weingartner Named 'Player Of Week In Valley'

Quartet Of Mountaineers On Television

Allentown—Karl Weingartner, quarterback for the undefeated Stroudsburg High school football team, was named "Player of the Week in the Lehigh Valley" last night on a regular Wednesday night football show on television station WLEV-TV channel 51.

The show, "High School Football," is sponsored by various dealers of a radio company operating in the Lehigh Valley. Bill Pfiffer is the announcer.

Each week the radio company honors the football player in the Lehigh Valley it considers gave the outstanding performance the previous week.

Weingartner was presented with a portable radio by a Wind Gap dealer, as a reward for his newly won honor.

Coach Jerry Stulgaitis and co-captains Don Garaventi and Russ Bachman were also on the program with Weingartner.

As a co-feature a film of the Allentown-Easton football game was shown.

All four Stroudsburg High grid figures appeared on the show at the beginning of the program, while Stulgaitis and Weingartner came back between halves of the film, at which time the Bartonsville resident was honored.

The entire quartet returned to the stage for the final 12 minutes of the program.

Questions

Pfiffer asked each of the players various questions, such as the length of time on the varsity, etc. Bachman, in a reply to a question, related that his biggest thrill was making a tackle against East Stroudsburg two years ago which resulted in a safety that gave Stroudsburg a 15-14 victory.

Garaventi was asked about his longest run. The Stroudsburg fullback pointed out that he had returned a punt against Catawaga for 70 yards (actually it was 82) and a touchdown. Don was complimented by the announcer, but the Stroudsburg co-captain quickly pointed out that anyone can run with the type of blocking his teammates have been handing out this season.

Weingartner was asked whether he thought the Mountaineers could defeat Northampton on Saturday and win the Lehigh Valley League championship. Karl replied, "We didn't come this far to lose."

Stulgaitis answered the usual run of questions and diagrammed the Stroudsburg offensive formation on a giant blackboard.

Weingartner was the first Stroudsburg player to ever be honored as the "Player of the Week in the Lehigh Valley."

Troy Stops Sandy In 7th

Washington, AP—Willie Troy, a very classy youngster, won himself a shot at the middleweight championship tonight by knocking out Randy Sandy of New York at 50 seconds of the seventh round of their televised bout. Troy weighed 138½, Sandy 153.

Troy, a 22-year-old from Washington, turned in his 23rd victory against one defeat with a bruising two-fisted assault that had Sandy retreating from the second round on.

Close

Sandy came close to being knocked out in the fifth and sixth rounds when Troy bombed him repeatedly with left hooks and long right smashes.

In the sixth, one overhand right jarred Sandy halfway across the ring. But he hung on until the bell.

Sandy didn't have the same fortune in the seventh.

ESSTC Trips Drexel In Field Hockey

East Stroudsburg State Teachers College brought its field hockey season to a close yesterday with a 3-0 victory over Drexel Tech, on the Normal Hill field.

The Warriors were scheduled to close out their season on Saturday by playing host to College Misericordia, but the contest has been cancelled at Misericordia's request. The team from Dallas, Pa. has been unable to practice because of the recent storm that almost wrecked its drill field.

ESSTC opened the scoring midway in the first half when Bonnie Frick, left inside, tallied for the home team and the charges of Coach Katherine Griffith held the upper hand the remainder of the distance.

Two More

All was quiet on the scoring front until the second half, at which time Grace Ashbery picked up the second goal and Lois Goodling tallied the clincher midway in the second half.

ESSTC sent a total of 24 girls into action, while Drexel limited its total of players to 13.

The only field hockey left for members of the ESSTC squad is the Philadelphia Sectional Tournament at Swarthmore College tomorrow, Saturday and Sunday.

Outstanding stars in the sectional tournament will be chosen to take part in the National Tournament at Hunter College, N. Y., on Thanksgiving Day.

ESSTC completed the season with two wins and one tie. The wins were over Lock Haven and Drexel. The deadlock was with Ursinus.

Football Game To Be Decided On Forty-Five Seconds Of Play

Lansing, Mich., AP—Bellevue and Vermontville High school football players will take the field next Monday for 45 seconds to determine which school won their game Saturday.

The State High School Athletic Association yesterday ordered the 45 second replay in upholding a protest by Vermontville.

The replay developed from the following situation: Vermontville, on third down, passed from the Bellevue 10 yard line into the end zone. Bellevue was penalized for pass interference and the ball was placed on the one yard line with 45 seconds left in the game.

Officials said it was fourth down instead of giving Vermontville a first down under high school rules. Vermontville failed to score on one play and Bellevue won the game 12-6.

Monday, Vermontville will get the ball on the one yard line with a first down in the 45 second replay.

NCAA Anxious To Further Limit Football, Basketball

Kansas City, AP—The NCAA Council yesterday voted to initiate amendments to its national convention next January that would put further limitations on playing and practice seasons for football and basketball.

The policy making group of the National Collegiate Athletic Association would limit its member football teams to a maximum of 10 games, excluding the approved post-season bowl games. Pre-season practice could not begin prior to September 1.

Proposals

The council will recommend that basketball practice not be permitted before November 1 and the first scheduled game before December 1.

A maximum of 26 games would be allowed for the basketball season under the council's recommendations. This limit would not include the NCAA post-season tournament, but would include pre-season tournaments and those held in mid-season, such as the Big Seven Conference tournament at Kansas City.

Executive Director Walter Byers said the action on limitations of the two big sports resulted from a survey of practice and playing seasons made by a committee.

It includes Paul Blommers, Iowa, chairman; Tom Hamilton, Pittsburgh; Leo A. Harris, Oregon; Ray Oosting, Trinity College, Hartford, Conn., and Commissioner Wallace Wade of the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Warren "Mag" Loney, commissioner of the Pocono Mountains Baseball League for the past two seasons, has resigned his office effective immediately, it was announced almost simultaneously by Loney and officers of the circuit.

The officers made Loney's action public at a meeting at Greenzweig's Restaurant, Kunkletown, on Tuesday.

Loney gave business pressure as his reason for resigning. The resignation accompanied a list of suggested changes in the current by-laws drawn up by Loney.

Trophies Ready

It was revealed at the Kunkletown meeting that all trophies had been obtained for next Tuesday's league banquet at the Lake House, Saylorsburg. This announcement was made by Henry Weiss, chairman of the trophy committee.

The guest list for next week's banquet is reported to include Elmer Volo, Philadelphia A's; Tom Hughes, formerly of the Phillies and Cincinnati Reds; Ronnie Mrozinski, with Baltimore last season and formerly of the North Atlantic League; Charley Sipple, Pittsburgh Pirates, and Charles Neast, Carbon County Treasurer.

AP Honors Lattner In Grid Poll

South Bend, Ind., AP—It becomes more and more evident that without halfback Johnny Lattner, yesterday named the Associated Press back of the week, Notre Dame wouldn't be the nation's number one college football team.

Lattner won the weekly honor by his stirring performance in Notre Dame's 28-20 victory over Penn last Saturday. After Penn scored first, rugged Johnny took the ensuing kickoff and raced 92 yards for a touchdown.

Runs Wild

Then he bagged 32 yards on a punt return and stole a pass from two Penn defenders to set up another Irish touchdown. Further warming up, Lattner streaked 56 yards with another kickoff to shove Notre Dame towards its third touchdown.

But perhaps his most important play came on defense. With Penn in hot pursuit of a fourth touchdown, Lattner wrested a goal line Penn pass from Quaker Bob Felver's hands.

Baltimore Selects Dykes To Replace Marion For One Year

Baltimore, (AP)—The Baltimore Orioles yesterday fired Marty Marion as manager and called in Jimmy Dykes of the Philadelphia Athletics to manage the city's new team in the American League.

Dykes himself had been turned out as manager of the A's only last week in favor of shortstop Eddie Joost and was to continue with the Philadelphia club in some advisory capacity. He had managed the team three seasons, finishing fourth in 1952 for his best year.

General Manager Art Ehlers in replacing Marion with Dykes is bringing to Baltimore a man with whose work he became familiar while Ehlers headed the Athletics' front office.

Ehlers said Marion was being released outright with still a year to go on his $30,000 a year contract as manager. That makes two unpaid former St. Louis Browns' managers on the Orioles' payroll. Rogers Hornsby, former Browns' manager who was furloughed by Bill Veeck in favor of Marion, is still drawing a salary.

Purchase Dykes is being named to the job for one year. Ehlers said the Orioles bought his contract from the Athletics and that it had one year to run. He did not disclose the salary involved.

The general manager, who was named to the top job here only recently himself, said he had always liked Dykes' work as a manager and felt that he has a lot of hustle and energy.

Marion, he said, failed to show much optimism in a recent conversation with him here about prospects of the club improving in its new environment. He added: "I do not feel that Marion is the proper man to take over the club under these conditions."

Ehlers' announcement did not come as much of a surprise. It had been widely speculated since Marion flew here for a meeting Monday that he would be let out. Dykes, an all time great as a third baseman with the A's, has been in the managerial end of the business since 1934 when he became pilot of the Chicago White Sox. He managed the Sox for 13 years, until 1946, and the highest he ever finished with them was third in 1936, 1937 and 1941.

Marty Wishes Orioles Best Of Luck

St. Louis (AP)—"I don't feel too bad about it, honest I don't," Marty Marion said yesterday of his firing as manager of the Baltimore Orioles.

"To go into Baltimore with two strikes against you, like I had, would have been a pretty tough operation. But I wish 'em a lot of luck."

Marion said Art Ehlers, general manager of the Orioles, called him before making the public announcement.

"He told me he didn't want me to have to read it in the papers," Marion said. "He's a nice fellow."

"It's too bad Ehlers wasn't there earlier. I feel I'd still be there, too."

Meaning He said he meant that Ehlers was familiar with major league operations and would have been able to put across the point with others in the organization that firing a manager isn't necessarily the secret to cure a ball club's ills.

Marion said he was convinced someone in the old St. Louis Browns' organization gave him a bad reputation with the new owners.

About his future plans, Marion said "I'm out of a job. I will remain in St. Louis. I'm sure there are no baseball jobs here. There's no use calling guys. If you get a good job, they come after you."

He said he wouldn't mind rejoining the Cardinals, where he gained his fame as "Mr. Shortstop," but not on the field.

Varsity 'S' To Meet An important Varsity "S" Club business meeting will be held today at Gap View Inn, at 8 p.m. Films of Stroudsburg High football games will be shown after the business session.

Purchase Dykes is being named to the job for one year. Ehlers said the Orioles bought his contract from the Athletics and that it had one year to run. He did not disclose the salary involved.

The general manager, who was named to the top job here only recently himself, said he had always liked Dykes' work as a manager and felt that he has a lot of hustle and energy.

Marion, he said, failed to show much optimism in a recent conversation with him here about prospects of the club improving in its new environment. He added: "I do not feel that Marion is the proper man to take over the club under these conditions."

Ehlers' announcement did not come as much of a surprise. It had been widely speculated since Marion flew here for a meeting Monday that he would be let out. Dykes, an all time great as a third baseman with the A's, has been in the managerial end of the business since 1934 when he became pilot of the Chicago White Sox. He managed the Sox for 13 years, until 1946, and the highest he ever finished with them was third in 1936, 1937 and 1941.

Controversial Book Topic For Teachers

A group of Stroudsburg teachers will discuss one of the most controversial books written recently on American education at a panel meeting Tuesday, Nov. 17 at the high school.

The book is Albert J. Lynd's "Quackery in the Public Schools." Published first, in part, as an article in the Atlantic Monthly magazine, Lynd's book is highly critical of some "progressive" practices in modern education.

Since publication, the book has aroused considerable discussion and controversy in major educational circles.

Stroudsburg High School Principal Alfred W. Munson said yesterday the purpose of the panel discussion is merely "to examine Lynd's book . . . and investigate his theories."

Chairman of the faculty committee is Numa Snyder. Members of the discussion group will be Mrs. Margaret Smith, T. Manning Curtis, Mahlon Serfass, Mrs. Ray Welsh and Lew DeSousa, a former student teacher at the high school.

Stroudsburg Woman's Club Follies Scheduled Tonight

"Follies of '53" opens a two-night run tonight at 8:15 in Stroudsburg High School auditorium.

Sponsored by the Junior Woman's Club, for benefit of the YMCA, the "Follies" cast ran through its final rehearsal last night in the auditorium under direction of Wendell Wold.

For cast members, director and publicists, it was the end of a three-week period of intensive preparation.

During the last week, some replacements were necessary. According to Woman's Club spokesmen, William Gorton has replaced John Meunier in the French skit titled "Oo-la-la."

Other selections to be presented include James Sheeley and Ruth Walz in a song-and-dance number called "A Couple of Swells" and Edna Shook singing "A Good Girl Looking For A Good Man." Tickets for both performances—tonight and Friday night—will be sold at the auditorium prior to the program. Reserved seats will be held until 8:15 p.m., spokesmen said.

Highlights of tonight's program is expected to be announcement of a reigning "Sultan" from a list of candidates selected by local service club organizations.

The Sultan will be introduced as part of the "Follies" festivities. All candidates for the honor will be introduced from the stage, a club spokesman said last night.

Also on tap, to complete the reproduction of the monarch's court will be a bevy of beauties who will serve as "dancing girls."

The "Sultan" will also appear on the program during Friday night's presentation of the "Follies."

Votes for the various candidates will "still be taken" prior to tonight's performance, a spokesman said.

Polio Vaccine Safe, National Foundation Assures Public

By Alton Blakeslee
AP Science Reporter

New York, (AP)—The National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis yesterday assured the public that the polio vaccine soon to be tested on thousands of children is safe "beyond all doubt."

It issued the statement after published reports the safety of the vaccine had been challenged. The vaccine, developed by Dr. Jonas E. Salk of the University of Pittsburgh, is made of polio virus killed by exposure to formalin, a formaldehyde preparation.

Chicago scientists told the American Public Health Association Tuesday of another vaccine made by killing polio virus with ultra-violet light.

They said they had tried to duplicate Dr. Salk's method of making the vaccine but had found some virus still alive and capable of infecting monkeys.

"For some reason not apparent to us, we were not successful in consistently completely inactivating the virus with formalin," said Drs. Albert Milzer, Sidney O. Levinson and H. J. Shaughnessy of Michael Reese Research Foundation, Chicago.

Some news reports interpreted this as challenging the safety of the Salk vaccine.

In a news conference late Tuesday, Dr. Milzer said he and associates had followed Salk's directions for killing the virus, as published in a medical journal, and "didn't make the cake right. I can't say this casts doubt on the safety of the Salk vaccine."

Dr. Hart E. Van Riper, medical director of the polio foundation, said Dr. Salk's method requires that the virus be killed, and "this is established by the most exacting laboratory tests, both in animals and tissue cultures."

"Failure of some scientists to reproduce Dr. Salk's results for making a safe polio vaccine is due to the fact that they have not followed his exact methods."

PTA To Air Problems Of Students

Pocono Pines—Day to day problems confronting the students in school are to be discussed at Tobyhanna Township PTA meeting today at 8 p. m.

Aim of the discussion is to bring to parents a better understanding of the problems of children during school hours.

Major W. E. Varney, Tobyhanna Signal Depot will be a guest speaker. He will outline what the depot means to the community and job opportunities for youth and their parents. There will be a question and answer period.

Due to the increasing attendance by unescorted students, officers are asking that children who attend be accompanied by at least one of their parents.

Entertainment will be provided for youngsters during the business session. Refreshments will be served after the meeting.

JUST AS HIS FOREFATHERS did, this Libyan farmer uses a family cow as a beast of burden to pull the huge leather bucket of water from the well. Although there are a few windmills, this is favorite method of drawing water.

Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club Elects Dr. C. W. Dupee As President For Next Year

Stroudsburg Kiwanis Club observed Armistice Day and held the annual election of officers with the selection of Dr. C. W. Dupee as president at yesterday's meeting in the Penn-Stroud Hotel.

Led by Parke W. Kunkle, president, there was a moment of silent prayer in memory of those who had given their lives in the recent wars. Dr. Earl Willhoite led in songs in keeping with the day.

The program, too, tied in with the occasion, a panel discussion based on the theme of Kiwanis International for this year—"Freedom—Our Sacred Trust."

Fred H. Rhoads, program chairman, presented Arlington W. Williams, past president, as moderator of the panel who stated the event was a suitable recognition of the 35th anniversary of the Armistice which ended World War One.

The speakers and their subjects were: Merle C. Ostrom, general manager of The Daily Record, who dwelt on freedom of the press; A. W. Munson, principal of Stroudsburg High School, on freedom of education; Dr. L. J. Koehler, teacher of social studies, East Stroudsburg State Teachers College, on freedom of education; and Rev. Dr. P. N. Wohlsen, pastor of St. John's Evangelical Lutheran Church, on freedom of religion.

The speakers showed the important part the freedoms played in our way of life, opposed government controls and emphasized the responsibilities of the people in enjoying rather than thwarting them.

George T. Robinson, past president, presided over the election of officers for the coming year. Those chosen in addition to Dr. Dupee as president, are: Vice president, Detlef A. Hansen; treasurer, John E. Watt; immediate past president, Parke W. Kunkle, and directors, Dr. H. C. Cryder, J. B. Dunkelberger and H. G. Tucker. The secretary is selected by the new board. The induction will take place the last meeting in December.

President Kunkle expressed his appreciation of the committee which planned the recent ladies' night celebration which proved a success, despite the unexpected snowstorm.

The annual agriculture meeting will take place next week when Frank Anthony, of the Department of Agricultural Education, State College, will speak on "Agricultural Education in the Middle East," with colored slides to illustrate his remarks.

Project winners among culture and home economics students in the county high schools will receive cash prizes and ribbons. Heads of the schools and teachers in the departments will be guests. Wilmer B. Frisbie, adviser, will be program chairman.

Mulching Conserves Soil, Water, Helps Feed Plants

By A. Norman Dietrick
SCS Technician

Mulching is an excellent fall practice for conserving soil and water in orchards, strawberry beds, raspberries, and on raw soil areas. It also protects the plants from frost damage and heaving, promotes root growth near the surface, and supplies nutrients for the plants.

Common mulching materials used are straw, sawdust, shavings, wood chips, and spoiled hay. They are spread uniformly over the surface at the rate of two to three tons per acre. During the first few years that a mulch is used, some form of nitrogen should be added to offset the early lack caused by increased action of the soil bacteria. Commercial nitrogen in the form of nitrates gives best results.

The use of mulch will improve the soil structure since it is a natural soil conditioner. It will prevent compaction of heavy soils thereby improving aeration and water penetration. It will have a binding effect on light soils of abating them to maintain a higher moisture content.

Recent research by the U. S.

Department of Agriculture at Beltsville, Maryland, has given amazing results in restoring vigor and productivity in orchards through the use of "high nitrogen" hay as a mulch. High nitrogen hay is described as any hay having 2 percent or more of nitrogen on the dry weight basis. It need not be legume hay, since perennial meadow hay such as orchard grass can be built up by fertilization.

Donald Reish, whose farm is just west of Stroudsburg, puts aside a large stack of straw each fall which he uses to mulch nearly an acre of strawberries. Donald is a cooper-

DPA To Adjust Grants For Health Care

Harrisburg—New adjustments in prices to be paid by the Department of Public Assistance for drugs and treatment of relief recipients in Pennsylvania are expected by Dec. 1.

The new regulations will clamp down on amounts to be spent in some instances while in others the permissible fees and prices to be paid will be brought up to meet today's higher prices.

Robert P. Wray, deputy secretary of public assistance, said the new regulations already have the approval of the State Board of Public Assistance.

They now are in the process of being drawn up and will be issued shortly, he added.

Part of the plan is to reduce the amount of money to be spent for vitamin preparations, Wray explained.

"The purchase of vitamins will be authorized only when the preparation is needed to correct illness or defects," he said.

On the other hand, increased expenditures will be authorized for certain drugs sold at retail rather than on prescription. These include aspirin, cod liver oil, rubbing alcohol and milk of magnesia.

"Our regulations will emphasize careful prescribing by the physician to provide adequate medication at a reasonable cost," Wray said.

Changes had to be made, he said, because the price of drugs "has increased more than any other part" of the program.

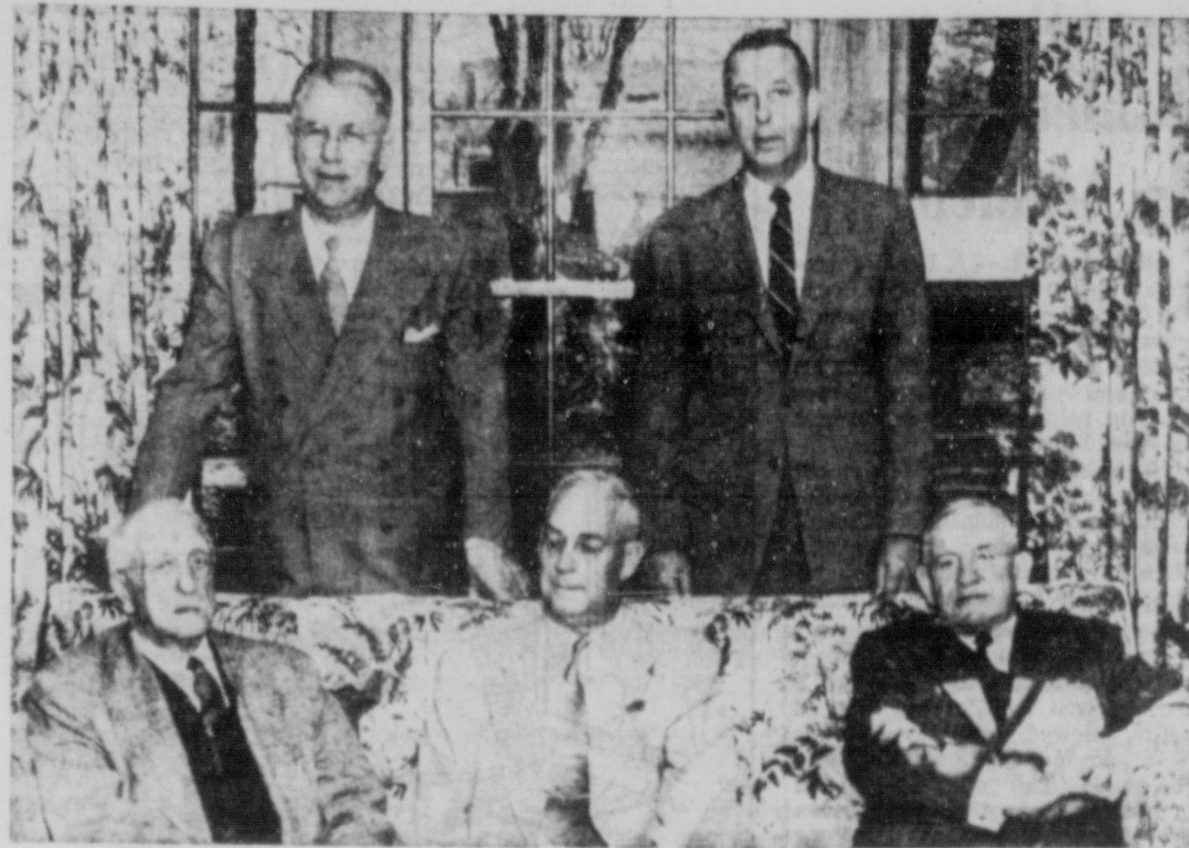

Alterations to permit increased payment for dental fees and doctor's fees for tending bone fractures also are in the making, Wray said.

Further discussion of the program by the public assistance board was expected Tuesday, the deputy secretary said. The bi-monthly meeting was postponed, however to Nov. 19 because of the illness of Mrs. Eleanor Evans, public assistance secretary.

The next meeting also will discuss further means of putting into effect new legislation enforcing Pennsylvania's support laws on fathers abandoning their families.

"The board has been following this program intensively for the last two years," Wray said.

The discussion, he added, will

American Way Of Life

Triple 'Miracle' Of Mass Production, Distribution And Financing Responsible For High U.S. Standard Of Living

New York—Next to skyscrapers and the Statue of Liberty, the thing that most awes overseas visitors when they land in New York is the traffic. The monumental jams of cars that fill the city's streets to overflowing are something they've never visualized.

Small wonder foreigners think there must be an automobile for every man, woman and child in America. Their impression is even more understandable when you compare the number of vehicles here and abroad.

Actually, there is one motor vehicle for every three persons in the country—but this is a far more impressive figure than it sounds.

to 107 persons to every motor vehicle.

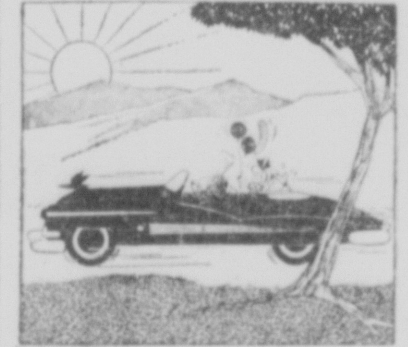

These figures represent the most recent count, according to a study by C. I. T. Financial corporation. Under such circumstances, it's hardly surprising that visitors from foreign countries consider the United States a land of miracles with every man an Aladdin!

Our American standard of living is the highest the world has ever known because the familiar miracles of mass production and mass distribution are supported by another, less-appreciated miracle—that of mass financing. No other country has developed the last to anything like its present position.

Mass financing (more popularly referred to as installment-plan buying) plays its chief role in the purchase of valuable durable goods such as automobiles and major home appliances.

However, Arthur O. Dietz, president of C. I. T., feels Americans should understand how installment credit "makes jobs" as well as makes it possible for people to buy cars and refrigerators without having to "ante up" the entire cash price in advance.

"If markets for more expensive things were limited to those able to pay spot cash," says Dietz, "the tremendous economies of mass production would disappear and the prices of many items would soar out of reach of most families—even those able to pay cash at present prices."

used about $50 billion worth of consumer credit. This means that installment-plan buying was a factor in nearly a quarter of family expenditures of all types.

If you occasionally wonder whether Mr. and Mrs. America may not be depending too much on installment buying, Dietz has a reassuring word on that score—Americans are meeting their time payments promptly.

"The average American consumer is a good credit manager with integrity and common sense, and a determination to pay his obligations," says Dietz. "He doesn't have to be told how to manage his money."

Ex-Allentown Athlete Dies In Accident

Allentown (AP) — A Reading motorist stopped his car on Route 222 yesterday because fog and a corn cob fire blinded his view ahead. A truck smashed into his rear and then two more autos piled in behind, fatally injuring a 19-year-old youth.

Leroy P. Katz, named a member of the 1952 Associated Press All-Pennsylvania scholastic basketball team while playing at Allentown High, died in Allentown General Hospital an hour after the crash.

Here's what police say happened: Harold Rhodes of Reading stopped his car. Shortly afterward a truck driven by Clarence Dull of Lititz, plowed into Rhodes' vehicle and then Katz smashed into the truck. The youth was pinned in his car as another auto driven by Elwood Schaeffer, 21, York struck the rear of Katz's vehicle.

State Policeman Warren Werens said the pile of corn cobs had been burning since Tuesday.

Mr. and Mrs. Harold Schaeffer, of Canadensis, visited Mr. and Mrs. LeRoy Kresge, Saturday night.

Mrs. George Delling, of Tafton, spent Saturday evening visiting her friend Miss Gloria Mader.

Court Rules Utility Rate Boost Valid

Pittsburgh (AP) — Pennsylvania Superior Court reversed the Public Utility Commission yesterday and declared valid a $4,500,000 a year rate increase put into effect in 1951 by the West Penn Power Co.

The court also ruled that West Penn will not have to pay back some two million dollars worth of bills collected from consumers in connection with the rate hike.

The utility commission had approved the new rates Oct. 26, 1951. However, last Feb. 16 the commission changed its decision and reduced the increase almost 50 per cent. The Commission also ordered West Penn to refund excessive collections.

The utility commission maintained that its first decision was in the form of a press release only and was not valid.

However, the Superior court, in an opinion written by President Judge Chester H. Rhodes, pointed out that a 21-day hearing had preceded the ruling and that the commission did not give West Penn notice that the higher rate was being questioned.

New Magic from the Telephone Dial

PENNSYLVANIA'S PREVIEW OF LONG DISTANCE DIALING BY CUSTOMERS

On December 3, Long Distance Dialing by customers will go into operation in the VALLEY Central Office, near Pittsburgh. This installation will be the first of its kind in Pennsylvania, the third in the United States. By its use, VALLEY customers will be able to dial direct to telephones in 14 cities as widely separate as Boston and San Francisco.

VALLEY was chosen for the introduction of Long Distance Dialing by customers in Pennsylvania for two reasons: the equipment for this development was already on hand in the VALLEY Central Office and required only minor modification, and the necessary Long Distance dial switching equipment is in use in nearby Pittsburgh. So the VALLEY Central Office proved to be the ideal location for the first Pennsylvania installation of Long Distance Dialing by customers.

As time passes, additional facilities and equipment will become available, permitting us to extend Customer Long Distance Dialing to other areas in the state.

Like other significant telephone developments in the past, and like those still in the laboratory stage, the VALLEY installation helps make good telephone service better. And as service keeps improving, the cost of enjoying it remains one of the biggest bargains.

Boss Of Bloodhounds Boasts 2,200 Manhunts In 19 Years Although It's Just His Hobby

By Martin Francis

Central Press Correspondent

La Crosse, Wis. — The fugitive, his eyes bloodshot with sleeplessness and constant watching, his unkempt hair tangled with brambles, slid behind a huge rock on the high bluff and eyed the three bloodhounds and their master farther down the slope. Fascinated, he saw the eager blood hounds unerringly follow his circling zig-zag trail which led always upward.

He purposely had made the trail that way, as he tried to fool the bloodhounds. For two days now, he had eluded them through the brushy bluff and coulee country west of La Crosse. Endless half and full circles he had made as he stayed well ahead of the dogs, trying to throw them off the track, ever working higher on the scrub oak bluffs that stretched back into a lonely wasteland.

It was a deadly game he was playing — man against dogs. Freedom or imprisonment hung in the balance. Perhaps he could throw the dogs and their master off the trail with his maneuvers, but if he couldn't — he had a gun!

The bloodhounds were not baying. Leashed, they had been taught to run silent. With sharp snuffing of the earth and damp leaves, they moved forward relentlessly, pulling a rangy, alert-eyed man behind them. George Brooks, 53, a soda clerk and counterman for 27 years, with a hobby of training and using bloodhounds, was on another manhunt, one of more than 2,200 during a 19-year period.

A farmer had killed four neighbors in a feud and had fled to the lonely hills in the LaCrosse coulee country. For two weeks, night and day, Brooks and his dogs trailed the fugitive, snatching a few hours sleep and food when ever they could.

Brooks wore a wide leather belt to which the leashes were attached, for the pull of the powerful dogs was too much for his hands. Dead-tired after days of trailing the killer, Brooks looked up once more at the top of the bluff. From the twisting trail the dogs followed, he had sensed what the fugitive was trying to do.

Nearly a hundred feet higher up. Eager, the lead dog, lifted his broad head and began tugging toward the right, his quivering nose in the air. He headed directly for a large boulder about 75 feet distant, the other dogs following.

From past experience, Brooks knew what had happened. The dogs had gotten a cross current air scent of the man they were after and had left the circuitous trail sent to get to their quarry more quickly. The fugitive had been too methodical in trying to make a long, tangled trail for the dogs.

Now as the bloodhounds approached his hiding place, the fugitive came out from behind the rock, his hands above his hatless head.

"Those dogs!" he said bitterly. "I can't get away from them."

Afterward Brooks asked him: "Why didn't you shoot me and the dogs? You had many chances."

"I was going to at first," said the prisoner. "But I don't hate you like I did the men I killed."

George Brooks, a quiet soft-spoken man who loves his dogs and trains them relentlessly, has risked death many times as he and his bloodhounds have trailed criminals in seven middle western states and Canada. However, it is a game he likes, and he is rated as one of the outstanding bloodhound trainers in the United States. His dogs have tracked down lost children, campers, window peepers, lunatics and escaped convicts.

The most recent case in which Brooks' bloodhounds participated was in the hunt for the kidnapper of Evelyn Hartley, 15, who disappeared while baby sitting at a LaCrosse home.

"Bloodhounds," he says philosophically, "are like people. Some days they feel like working. Other days they don't. You've got to be patient with them. I have often waited a half day or more on a murder scene until my dogs got riled up by the right scent and were raring to go."

Usually George seeks an article of clothing which the killer or missing person has touched or discarded, for it is usually heavy with human scent. "Man's gone," he solemnly tells his trained dogs. The bloodhounds follow that scent through country or city, until they find the person, or are thrown off the scent. Most of the time the dogs get their man.

About the only way a fugitive can throw a bloodhound off a fresh trail is to get into an automobile, bus or airplane. However, even in such instances the dogs follow the trail to the suspect's point of departure, indicating where he has gone. Sometimes on a broken trail, the dogs are run along the scent again when the person leaves the car farther on.

If a fugitive is submerged in water, the dogs cannot follow the trail, but they often can pick up air-scent drifting to them when the fugitive comes up for breath.

While George Brooks charges no fee for his dogs and his own detective work, grateful persons often give him expense donations when he handles cases for them. He is one of the most widely known men in LaCrosse, both as a pleasant, white-jacketed counterman, and as a grim, pipe-smoking figure pulled by powerful blood-hounds through city streets when it's really a dog's life, but a very interesting one, George says, on training maneuvers.

George Brooks and two of his bloodhounds.

Laboratory To Study 'Saucers'

Ottawa, (AP) — Canada's Transport Department is building the world's first laboratory designed to prove or disprove the existence of flying saucers.

W. B. Smith, engineer in charge of the broadcast and measurement section of the department, said yesterday the laboratory or sighting station is under construction at Shirley's Bay, 10 miles northwest of Ottawa, and should be in operation in a few days.

Smith said the station is designed to detect gamma rays, magnetic fluctuations, radio noises and gravity or mass changes in the atmosphere.

The engineer said if there are any interplanetary flying saucers, "they must work on some technology which has something in common with our own basic physics. It is that so, our equipment will be able to detect them."

India Needs Birth Control, Says Official

New Delhi, India, Thursday, (AP) — India's census chief said today birth controls that would limit the average family to three children are necessary if this nation is ever to become self-sufficient in food production.

R. A. Gopalaswami, who directed India's 1951 nose-count, said in his final report that such a change would be "a near miracle," but pointed to 520 million Indians by 1981 as the alternative.

India minus disputed Kashmir numbered 356,891,624 in the 1951 census—15 per cent of all the world's people and an increase of 42,061,576 over 1941.

Prices Of Food Reverse Trend

New York (AP) — Wholesale food prices which have been declining steadily since late summer are on the rise again for the first time in eight weeks, Dun & Bradstreet said yesterday.

At $6.50, the Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food prices index for the current week compared with $6.48 a week ago and $6.30 in the same week last year. It was 3.2 per cent above the year-ago figure.
